Laurel Love Gray

License or Freedom

I am sixteen. My parents don't like to have me go out evening. My dad seems to think that the only good people on earth are his own family. Are three nights a week out too often if I came in early? What time should I get in? Is one o'clock too late once a week?
—High School Boy.

ANSWER

—Lots of parents are satisfied to let boys do as they please and the girls are filled with the results. What do you do on these "three nights out"? Is it Scouts or Evening School? Athletic games? By your letter I judge not. A boy should have certain privileges based upon mutual understanding between the boy and his father. Convince your dad of your own integrity. He has your welfare at heart.

Cause for Embarrassment

I have fallen in love with one of my teachers. She goes with a steady fellow and I have been trying to forget her by going with other girls. What would you do if you were I? Would you explain the situation to her or not?
I saw in the paper that you like people to come out straight to the point, so that is what I have done. Freshman.

ANSWER

—If you want to save her some embarrassment you will not explain the situation to her. Forget her and remember that there are many good fish still in the sea.

"I have read about two or three hundred of your articles about what kind of girls men want to marry and what kind of men girls fall in love with," writes in a dainty slip the letter "A. Laurel Gray Fan" (Ahem! Thanks for the compliment. I feel like a movie queen.) "But" (she goes on) "why don't you write something about the kind of men so self-respecting girls would look at? And about the types of girls so common nowadays whom no real man would dream of wanting to marry?" Dear me, Fan, I'm afraid you are pessimistic. I'll tell you what. You go over to the library and get a book of synonyms and antonyms. Whenever you see a virtue described in this corner, just look up the antonym and you'll see the kind of fellow or the kind of maiden who won't do. A man determined to marry an amiable girl, for example, but he will jump out of a third-story window to get away from a cranky, bad-tempered, peevish, sulky girl. See? Simple, isn't it? A girl will go wild over a fellow who is generous, but she will shrivel up into zero when courted by a fellow who is stingy, mean, petty, small, penurious, miserly. Get the idea? The formula is very simple. Let's not emphasize the weaknesses and defects and vices of the well-known class of would-be lovers. Let us consider the virtues and sweet attributes of character. I mean, Fan, let's be optimists instead of pessimists. Dear heaven knows that if there is any place in the world where optimism blossoms fairest it is in the heart of one in love!

ELEMENTARY

Today is visiting day for the faculty of the elementary school here. The teachers of each school district are given one day each year in which to observe the methods of other schools.

Mrs. Etta McIntyre of the nature study department of the Los Angeles district gave a talk at Wednesday's assembly. Mrs. McIntyre's talk was illustrated by a bird film. The children of the kindergarten and second grade presented an especially fine Halloween program, preceding the illustrated talk.

Navy Day and Roosevelt's birthday were celebrated Wednesday by exercises in the various rooms. The boys and girls in Miss Roberson's room won the thrift pennant this month for having the most banks and savings accounts.

A Boy Scout rally

was held Wednesday afternoon. Principal Bell attended a meeting of elementary principals held Wednesday night at the Tenth Street School. Pending measures affecting the schools and the Community Chests were discussed.

Patience, my dear, patience!

Here cometh a modest maiden who confesses her love for a man. "I cannot live without him," she wails. "And I know he is interested in me. How can I bring him to the point that he will tell me he loves me?" And, delightful child, she hints in her letter that she is confident I can pass on to her the magic formula. Alas! As if there were a charm which shy and gentle maidens might be brought to declare themselves in whispering voice dip't in the nectar of love. There is no magic way. For charms are but the instrument of superstition and there's nothing supernatural about love. Love cometh unbidden, unthought and many a time unwelcome. There is no artificial lure, and there is no bulwark against its blooming upon the dullest and coldest door-step. Patience, my dear, patience. Let him see the love light in your eyes; let him listen to the love note in your voice; let him feel the loving spark which passes as you clasp hands, and let him know the loving warmth of your breath upon his cheek. And, by the way, flatter him a little, tease him a little, and (if you are sure you love him truly) kiss him just a little—but not as often as he would like. But then, why is it necessary for me to advise you thus? You are a clan sister. You know all this, don't you? Patience, my dear, patience!

SCHOOL NEWS

HIGH SCHOOL

At a Girls' League meeting held last Thursday many things of importance were discussed and voted upon. It was decided to give the league banner to the classroom doing the most good for the school each month. The 110 girls agreed to be on hand for keeping flowers in the study hall, library, and offices. At a conference to be held in Monrovia Nov. 13 and 14 Ruth Warren and Charline Edwards will represent the league.

Thursday Mrs. Eischen and the president of the Schumann Society will go to Los Angeles and make final arrangements to have a phonograph sent to this high school. The purchase of this instrument was made possible by the success of the auditorium calls which the Schumann Society has sponsored.

The monthly Boys' League meeting was held in the auditorium Friday. After the usual business, a program was presented. As the first number a new Boys' League song was tried out by the Boys' Glee Club. An orchestra composed entirely of boys played the accompaniment. John Fiesel and Jack Reeves played two saxophone duets and, judging by the applause they received, they were the most popular performers on the program. The league plans to show the school that it is something and that it is going to back everything that tends to make a better Torrance High.

During the game Friday the Torrance boys showed their skill and pertinacity by holding the giants from Gardena from getting a touchdown during the first half. During the second half, however, our boys weakened a little under the strength of a fresh team sent in by Gardena and allowed the berry-pickers to score two touchdowns and one conversion. The Torrance tackles, guards and ends were working beautifully. Never before have our back field men fought so hard, but it helped little in combating the giants, who outweighed Torrance 20 to 30 pounds.
